NOTE FROM THE EDITOR

SECOND EDITION

It gives me great joy to be able to curate The BPIC Awards for the second year in a row. I promised last year that the inaugural awards would be the first of many, and here we're working on the second series. Following the success of 2021, I felt obligated to deliver and present a better ceremony this year, which I believe I have done.

From conception to subsequent interaction with the many different stakeholders; the nominees, the judging panel, the catering team, marketing, gong designers, and many more, this has been a great and fulfilling challenge. They have all made significant contributions to what will be an incredible evening honouring individuals from black and ethnic minority groups as well as organisations that are doing outstanding work to increase our visibility.

It gives me great pleasure to introduce these extraordinary individuals, and I hope you enjoy the awards ceremony as much as I have enjoyed working with the BPIC Team to create our second awards ceremony.

BPIC NETWORK

ABOUT

The BPIC Network is an independent organisation dedicated to providing inclusion guidance, training, career opportunities, and networking events tailored to those already working in the industry, as well as curating an aspirational platform for youth and those looking to join the industry. The vision is to help people get jobs in the construction industry and to collaborate with organisations that want to improve their diverse representation and advancement of black and ethnic minority professionals.

Our values are important because they define us as a company. We are committed to our mission of increasing diversity in construction and the built environment. We are disciplined and accountable in the delivery of our solutions. We maintain an open and transparent relationship with our stakeholders based on trust and mutual respect. Finally, we share the belief that equality and diversity are critical to the modern workforce and to the performance of an organisation.

The network is committed to providing solutions for participants working in all areas of the industry, including major infrastructure projects, fit-outs, SMEs, and specialist professions that support our industry, such as technology, law, and finance.

Our network was launched in September 2019 and has since attracted over 7,200 members as well as 40+ corporate partners and supporters.

We hope to see you continue to support us as we grow stronger together.

TOGETHER

NOTE FROM OUR FOUNDER

Following the success of the Awards ceremony last year, we are delighted to see it return, stronger and better than ever, with more entries in all individual categories. Our network was founded in 2019 and has grown steadily since then. We wanted to create a platform to showcase black and ethnic minority talent, the diversity of career options available across the built and to connect people for networking purposes, which we have done consistently. 64 Early Careers placement, 32 talent placements, D&I Consultancy with 5 companies and a network of over 7,200 members and 45 companies, 2022 has seen us steadily grow and showcase our potential.

We started the year strong, collaborating with the Mayor of London to deliver events to support young people into the industry in London. This programme was created in response to a government survey that revealed that unemployment rates for young black men remain significantly higher than for other young people. We aimed to address this issue in collaboration with The Greater London Authority and WIN by breaking down the barriers that create inequalities in the workplace in London.

To increase our visibility, we held our Midlands Launch in Birmingham, which was supported by our partner Gleeds. Since its launch in September 2019, the BPIC Network has seen a massive increase in London and Greater London. It was only natural for us to expand our network to other parts of the UK in order to increase the participation of black and ethnic minority individuals in construction and the built environment. We also attended our first American gig as part of our expansion, travelling to Houston, Texas in the summer for a Reuters event where we promoted our work.

We officially opened our London offices, Sackville House in Fenchurch Street! Our collaboration with Marsh has demonstrated confidence in our work as well as practical support for furthering the work. Many large organisations have been discussing how to support initiatives, but what really matters is the action and investment that allows us to deliver the change. Visit the office whenever you are in the City of London. We hope to see you all at what will be the HOME of built environment inclusion.

We began our Breakfast Series at the BPIC offices as a result of having our own space, with a Network of Networks workshop aimed at creating an industry best practise solution to D&I. We intend to continue this breakfast series by speaking to small business owners and providing them with an excellent platform to connect, learn about upcoming projects, and share best practises on tenders with large projects from our partners.

We've seen a lot of work, from Sharing Workshops with Willmott Dixon in assisting them in developing their D&I agenda to our talent team continuing to do fantastic work in connecting great talent to great companies. We have arranged site visits, such as the one we did with Lendlease on their large Google project at Kingscross. This provided our network with valuable insights and experiences and we hope to continue this in 2023.

For tonight, let's end the year of a high note celebrating, and we hope to see more entries at next year's awards!

Saving lives through donation

We need you!

ACLT (African Caribbean Leukaemia Trust) is a leading blood cancer charity, founded in 1996 by parents Beverley De-Gale OBE and Orin Lewis OBE, after they received the devastating news their son Daniel De-Gale would need a stem-cell (bone marrow) transplant to beat his three-year battle with Acute Lymphoblastic Leukaemia (ALL)

Daniel's chances of finding an unrelated stem cell donor was a staggering 1 in 250,000 because he was Black.

If he was White, he would have had a 1 in 5 chance, simply because, finding a match is race specific and not enough Black people were registering as potential donors.

Over the last 26 years, ACLT have made it our mission to ensure matched stem cell, blood, and organ donors are available to patients who are in desperate need.
